Columbia Choral Society at Piccolo Spoleto

The Columbia Choral Society, under the direction of Dr. William Carswell, is a volunteer professional chorus of over 80 auditioned singers from the Midlands of South Carolina. The performance at Piccolo Spoleto concludes the 78th season of the Choral Society. The concert begins with a tribute to Johannes Brahms featuring the stunning motet Lass Dich Nur Nichts Nicht Dauren (Let Nothing Ever Grieve Thee), “How Lovely is Thy Dwelling Place” from the German Requiem, and the rarely performed Nänie. The second half of the concert features the music of American composers. The chorus will perform Sing Ye Praises to Our King, At the River and The Promise of Living by Aaron Copland. “Make Our Garden Grow” from Leonard Bernstein’s opera Candide will be followed by The Testament of Freedom by Randall Thompson. The performance is Sunday, May 31 at 2:00 pm at St. Philip’s Episcopal Church. There is no admission charge and all are welcomed.

Columbia Baroque Soloists

Handel With Care"
is Tuesday, June 23, 2009
7 pm Pre-Concert Talk
7:30 pm Concert

at Shandon UMC Player Hall

The last concert of the 2008-2009 season, "Handel With Care," will be Tuesday, June 23, in Player Hall at Shandon United Methodist Church. The pre-concert talk will begin at 7 PM and the concert at 7:30 PM. Tickets are $10; $8 for seniors; $5 for students.

Two guest artists will join the ensemble in an all G. F. Handel program commemorating the 250th anniversary of his death. Gail Ann Schroeder, our principal guest artist, will return in performances with the ensemble and in a solo sonata for viola da gamba. Gail has been a favorite with our audiences. Her artistry, honed from 25 years of performing early music in Europe, inspires the ensemble to new musical heights. Joining the ensemble for the first time will be Susan Brashier Hicks performing on baroque oboe. Susan has degrees in oboe performance from the Oberlin College-Conservatory of Music and Yale University. She resides with her family in Vidalia, Georgia and performs with the Atlanta Baroque Orchestra. The Baroque Oboe is a keyless instrument resembling a recorder, but played with a double reed similar to a modern oboe. This may be the first Columbia performance with a baroque oboe! The program of Handel's music will include a delightful trio sonata for oboe and recorder; a lovely German Aria for voice and oboe; and a sonata for harpsichord and one for recorder. The concert will end with a rarely performed cantata for solo voice from Handel's Italian period. Entitled "Tra le fiamme," it tells the story of Daedalus and Icarus and is a fiery virtuosic piece for the entire ensemble.

This is a concert you will want to attend!

Something To Celebrate

Mt. Pleasant Lutheran Church in Saluda, SC has something to celebrate. In February of 1996, fire destroyed the interior of their church, leaving only the outside walls standing. One of the things the fire took was their beloved Schlicker pipe organ. Using the insurance money, they rebuilt the interior and in 1999 a brand new mechanical action Schlicker organ was installed. Alas, this was the last Schlicker to be built as the company closed before actually finishing the installation and voicing.

In 2003, the firm of Greg Hand began the task of refurbishing and re-voicing the organ. Assisted by Ansel Price and the then interim organist, some much-needed repairs were completed including replacing the combination action and reworking the wind system. The final stage of the renovation was completed just before Easter of this year.

To celebrate the completion, a concert is planned for May 17 at 6:00pm consisting of Evening Prayer, choral selections featuring the organ, as well organ selections. The choir of St. Alban's Episcopal Church, Lexington, South Carolina will be the featured choir. St. Alban's choir is already becoming widely known for its choral music and special programs. Charles T. Owings, who serves St. Alban's as Director of Music and Organist, will conduct the choir. Mr. Owings is known throughout the Southeast for his organ concerts and choral conducting. He served Mt. Pleasant as interim organist and choirmaster in 2003. The concert is free and open to the public. Mt. Pleasant is located at 101 North Calhoun Street (corner of Hwy 378 and Calhoun) in downtown Saluda.
